Paint the Picture

- There are few places on Earth as magical as the Galápagos Islands. This is where time seems to stand still, where volcanic landscapes meet pristine beaches, and where wildlife lives unbothered — as if humans were never here.
- Imagine giant tortoises lumbering through emerald highlands, blue-footed boobies dancing on volcanic rock, and sea lions twirling playfully as you snorkel in crystalline water.
- Your journey begins in Quito, Ecuador's UNESCO World Heritage capital cradled by Andean peaks, before you fly to the Enchanted Isles.
- Over six unforgettable days, you'll sail to Bartolomé Island for the most iconic view in the Galápagos, explore North Seymour where frigatebirds and iguanas abound, and relax on Bachas Beach, where flamingos wade and sea turtles nest.

- At the Charles Darwin Research Station, see firsthand the conservation work that protects these fragile islands and meet the species whose survival depends on it.

“This is not just a trip — this is the Galápagos. Six days exploring volcanic islands, snorkeling with sea lions and penguins, standing among giant tortoises, and experiencing one of the last truly untouched wildernesses on Earth. It’s rare, it’s iconic, it’s unforgettable. Who’s ready to raise their paddle and claim the Enchanted Isles?”
